Honorable William G. Young, United States District Judge for the District of Massachusetts

Dear Judge Young,

My name is Sharadha Raghavan and I am a California Licensed Psychiatrist who has been in private practice in San Jose, California for twenty plus years. I have known my patient Veronica Zea since she was a teenager. I first met with her and her family in March of 2011. I diagnosed Veronica with a severe anxiety disorder. Veronica through the years has struggled with both anxiety and depression. I remember Veronica to be a very caring, shy and unassuming person. In spite of her significant anxiety she worked hard in overcoming her challenges. She graduated High School and then college successfully even after a huge set back from suffering a concussion. I am very sorry that this unfortunate thing has happened at her previous job. I know this has made her question herself and has affected her self-esteem significantly. I believe she deeply regrets not having the confidence to speak up and stand for what was right.

I care deeply about my patient Veronica. She is truly a kind and considerate person. I also believe that it is not in her nature to intentionally hurt any being. My hope in writing this letter today, is to give you a different perspective of my patient Veronica, whom I have come to know quite well over the years.

Thank you for your consideration. Please feel free to contact me if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Sharadha Raghavan, M.D.
